

Waiver and Release of Liability for the 6th European Transplant & Dialysis Games

The European Transplant & Dialysis Sport Federation provides opportunities for transplanted recipients and people on dialysis to display their skills and celebrate the important benefits of participating in recreational activities. We want competitors to experience these benefits while recognising that participation in any physical activity entails risk. Whilst the Local Organising Committee strives to reduce these risks: they can never be completely eliminated.

I the undersigned do hereby acknowledge that:

- I intend to participate in physical activity at the 6th European Transplant & Dialysis Games event and I realise that participation brings the possibility of injury and I accept this risk on behalf of myself regardless of the nature of the injury and the physical activity chosen. (This only applies if I am a registered competitor).
- I agree that participation in any physical activity and use of any equipment is at my own discretion or judgement on my own experience and competence level.
- I understand that by participating / attending I am personally assuming responsibility for any injury to me or any property as a consequence of these activities and hereby release and hold harmless the European Transplant & Dialysis Sport Federation, the Irish Kidney Association, Abbey Conference & Corporate their officers, agents, employees, and Volunteers except where such harm or injury is sustained as a result of their negligence.
- I consent to photographs being taken of me and authorise the Irish Kidney Association (LOC) and its agents to use them for all media purposes.
- I intend to participate at the 6th European Transplant & Dialysis Games and I have discussed the possibility of adverse effects with my medical advisor who is in agreement with my decision to participate.(this only applies if I am under the care of a medical advisor) I also confirm that I have trained for the events I have entered.

Privacy Clause

Protecting your privacy and the confidentiality of your information is fundamental to the way we operate at the Irish Kidney Association. We are committed to protecting the privacy of our members, partners and Event participants. Personal information will only be retained as long as required by law and as necessary for fulfilment of the event purpose. By signing below you are explicitly consenting to the processing of your sensitive personal data by officers of the Irish Kidney Association and its medical appointees and Agents. Your information will only be used in connection with your entry to the event and will not be shared with any other third party and will only be kept for as long as is necessary.
